BACKGROUND

A skilled communicator, Geoff is highly adept at understanding each client's objectives and concerns, and is able to anticipate potential legal roadblocks. Having worked at the USPTO, Geoff knows from personal experience how the trademark registration and opposition/cancellation processes work. As a result, Geoff effectively plans for or averts potential problems before they become significant obstacles. Geoff's innate ability to identify and mitigate possible issues or negative outcomes during and beyond the examination process has served his clients well, often saving them both time and resources.

An integral part of each client's team, Geoff's analytical skills and creativity are supported by his outstanding and effective writing skills, honed after years of legislative and legal practice. Geoff's ability to manage a multitude of matters simultaneously, all while keeping his clients informed and involved in the decision-making process, is highly regarded. Geoff is dedicated to the specific needs of his clients — making each client's goal, his objective.

Geoff also serves as an Adjunct Professor for Western Michigan University, Cooley Law School where he teaches an LL.M. course on Trademark Office Practice.
